

SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH COLLOQUIUM SoSe 2022

SESSION #3

HANS NOEL

Associate Professor at Georgetown Univ.

THE DYNAMICS OF IDEOLOGY:
How Donald Trump could change what it means to be “conservative” in the United States

Hans Noel's research is on political coalitions, political parties and ideology, with a focus on the United States. He is the author of Political Ideologies and Political Parties in America, and a co-author of The Party Decides: Presidential Nominations Before and After Reform.

He is interested in the implications for understanding parties through focusing on how their policy demands relate to coalition building and coordination. Noel teaches on parties, elections, political history and political methodology, and he has lectured around the world on the American political system.

Noel was a Robert Wood Johnson Scholar in Health Policy Research at the University of Michigan from 2008 to 2010. Before coming to Georgetown, Noel was a fellow in the Center for the Study of Democratic Politics in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University. He received his Ph.D. in 2006 from UCLA.
