

Race, Multilateral Institutions, and International Relations

Guest Lecture Series

Winter Term 2023/24

Tarak Barkawi

Johns Hopkins University

*Race and Battle in the Production of Military History: The US in Korea,
1950-1951*

Tarak Barkawi is Professor of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University and studies war and empire. His interdisciplinary scholarship re-imagines relations between war, armed forces and society in modern world politics. He has written on the pivotal place of armed force in globalization, imperialism, and modernization, and on the neglected significance of war in social and political theory and in histories of empire.

The lecture series is part of the SCRIPTS project "Race and Multilateralism - The Anatomy of a Complex Relationship" based at the JFK-I.

Wednesday, January 17
